

Building community preparedness

The New Zealand 'Get Prepared' website is an initiative of the Wellington Region Emergency Management Office. The site provides information on New Zealand earthquake preparedness and offers guidance related to individuals, households, schools and businesses.

Resources include the downloadable Earthquake Preparedness Guide, templates for business continuity, a searchable index of school emergency management plans and guides for Community Emergency Hubs that are places for communities to coordinate their efforts to help each other during and after a disaster.

The website also features a calendar of events about community preparedness, workshops for schools and childcare centres and business continuity workshops around the region.

Access the Get Prepared website at www.getprepared.nz/.

ADVANCE YOUR PUBLIC SAFETY CAREER AT CSU

Charles Sturt University (CSU) is the world's largest provider of tertiary education in law enforcement, counter-terrorism, emergency management, customs and border security.

CSU's Australian Graduate School of Policing and Security (AGSPS) is globally recognised for the quality of its postgraduate research and education for professionals in disciplines with a public safety focus.

We offer a range of qualifications across the field of public safety – including emergency management and fire investigation – that will put you at the frontier of your chosen profession. Our students learn to meet the complex challenges faced by professionals in a fast changing world. You will develop the creative intellectual capacity and skills that are sought to fill senior positions in these critical disciplines, meaning that you can advance your career while making a significant contribution to public safety and security.

We offer flexible online study so you can fit your learning around work and family commitments. To find out more go to: bjbs.csu.edu.au/schools/agsp/s/courses-and-subjects

csu.edu.au/study/policing | 1800 334 733

